

Motiv Ring App Expands to Android™ Platform
The wearable is now available for Android users, and syncs with Google Fit

SAN FRANCISCO, July 17, 2018 -- Motiv Inc., developers of breakthrough wearable technology, today announced a significant update to its roster of supported mobile devices and platform integrations. The expansion into Android further advances how customers are able to engage with activity, sleep and heart rate data; additionally, an integration with Google Fit allows customers to export wellness health and wellness stats in new ways and interfaces.

“Since our pre-order announcement of Motiv Ring, we’ve received requests from Android users who want Motiv Ring. We are thrilled to support Android users and put Motiv Ring on their fingers,” said Tejash Unadkat, CEO, Motiv. “Following Android, the most requested ask has been integration with other health-minded and fitness apps. In par with our Android launch, Google Fit has been a key priority for us that we’re happy to deliver today.”

Since its debut at the Consumer Electronics Show in January 2017, Motiv has amassed thousands of active users nationwide and has made strides to upgrade app capability and functionality. The product has become even more social, insightful, intuitive and helpful for users every hour of their day. In addition to the Android platform, Motiv Ring is available on iOS 9 and later and integrates with Apple Health.

The Motiv Ring app for Android is compatible with Samsung Galaxy S7, S8, S8+, S9, S9+, Note 5, and Note 8, and Google Pixel, Pixel 2 and Pixel 2 XL.
